

THE SUNDAY TIMES

Bundles of energy

‘It’s easy being green—when you take the fabric first approach

Svenskhomes are proud to have featured in a recent Sunday Times ‘Green Homes’ article. The article went to press on 12th October 2014 when Svenskhomes’ latest development ‘Woodlands’ was reported as one of the 10 best ‘Eco Houses’ for sale in the country.

WOODLANDS FACTS

Location: Ipswich
EPC Rating: A

“7 Ipswich, Suffolk

Woodlands is the first timber-framed house to be built in the UK by Swedish Svenskhomes, which specialises in airtight luxury. The 3,235 sq ft property has a study, three bathrooms, five bedrooms and a stylish wood burner in the L-shaped open-plan living space. There’s also a galleried landing with floor-to-ceiling glazing.”

“The credentials No one has moved in yet, but running costs are estimated to be £14.50 a week. It has solar panels, an air-source heat pump, a heat-recovery system and triple glazed aluminium windows.”

“The joy of buying a house full of energy-efficient systems is that you don’t have to install any of the kit, or work out how long it will take to make your investment worthwhile. Instead, you get to kick back and revel in your low bills though you may need to gen up on air-source heat pumps. Here are the best eco-homes on the market.”

Svenskhomes are pleased to be recognised as a leading provider of A rated homes. Producing energy efficient homes for modern living.